Working Families Standing Together

Dear Sisters and Brothers,

I am extremely proud that my service as Chair of the Assembly Committee on Labor and Employment allowed me to fight for the rights of workers, working families and the American middle class. Like many Californians, I am the product of America's middle class—one that largely has been shaped and made possible by the labor movement. My mother was a nurse. My father was a bus driver and a teacher. My grandfather was a longshoreman and my uncle retired as an electrician. Because of the labor movement, all four were able to earn a decent living, support their families, and retire with the security of a pension to live out their remaining years with dignity. I believe there will continue to be an assault on workers, pensions and collective bargaining in California, which is an assault on the middle class, as we know it.

I am proud to have a record of standing with you on the front lines of this struggle and voting NO on efforts to legislate pensions. I join you in standing together for working families and protecting our pensions.
